

Where was the fiber optic cable knocked down

Overview

The outage has been blamed on a fiber optic cable cut between Guelph and Brampton after a crash knocked down traffic lights and wires. The accident happened at Claire Rd W and Gordon St in Guelph. In a statement to DCD, Rogers said it expects full restoration to services by 10 pm. Thousands of residents across Dallas and neighboring cities were abruptly knocked offline this week when a single stray bullet pierced a fiber optic line powering Spectrum's network. The unusual cause grabbed headlines, but the story is bigger than one damaged cable. Credit: ZME Science/Midjourney. Last Friday afternoon, thousands of Texans found themselves yanked offline. ISP Spectrum told customers in the Dallas-Fort Worth area that services were down in a post on X, which judging from the comments from customers isn't an unusual occurrence. The outage exposed critical vulnerabilities in centralized. In an unexpected turn of events, a 75-year-old woman managed to disrupt internet connectivity for two entire countries in 2011. Armed with nothing but a pair of scissors, this incident highlighted the vulnerability of our digital infrastructure and the impact one individual can have on an entire.
